NCCI GARDENING AND LANDSCAPE

Deacon James E. Parker

Deacon Therin McCants

On Thursday, May 1, 2025, the NCCI conducted its first gardening seminar at the residence of Deacon Therin and Mary McCants on Newcastle Drive. The event successfully attracted ten community members identified as prospective gardening leaders from the Newcastle Future Garden group. Strong attendance and favorable weather conditions characterized the seminar.

We were grateful for the contributions received from Deacon James Rhett and Lowe's located on Two Notch Road. During the seminar, participants engaged in the practical planting of various starter plants, including tomatoes, squash, and zucchini, which many attendees were able to take home to initiate their own gardening projects.

The seminar's objective was to enhance the participants' comprehension of contemporary gardening techniques. Attendees benefited from the insights provided by two seasoned instructors, Deacon Therin McCants and Deacon James E. Parker, who possess significant expertise in the field. Overall, the event offered valuable knowledge regarding modern gardening practices and fostered a collaborative and enjoyable learning atmosphere. Participants acquired essential information about current gardening methodologies, resulting in a truly enriching experience enhanced by the involvement of knowledgeable instructors.

Kudos

I am genuinely excited to take this moment to honor the remarkable individuals in our community. Each of them has faced challenges and shown incredible strength and resilience. Today, I come to recognize not just their achievements, but the compassion and dedication that have shaped our community into a nurturing one.

Deacon
Therin McCants

Deacon
James E. Parker.

The current state of the world raises concerns about the impact of chemical treatments in food production, which can result in various health issues. Fortunately, our community benefits from the efforts of two dedicated gardeners, Deacon Therin McCants and Deacon James E. Parker. These individuals focus on planting and nurturing crops using organic methods, free from chemicals. Their work provides us with access to healthier food options, contributing positively to our overall well-being.

Both Deacon McCants and Deacon Parker are family men with strong faith. During the day, they work diligently in the garden, sowing seeds to share blessings with their families, friends, and Community. They ensure that everyone can enjoy fresh, healthy vegetables free from harmful chemicals.

It is truly a blessing to have individuals with such generous hearts who are willing to share with the community at no cost. They invest their time, love, patience, and money into acquiring the necessary equipment to make their efforts successful. We should all express our gratitude to them.

I want to highlight the significant work that Deacon McCants and Deacon Parker have done by providing us with organic vegetables.

To further understand their gardening efforts, it's helpful to consider the tools they utilize, which may include trowels, wheelbarrows, spades, garden gloves, shovels, secateurs, hoes, hand forks, and hoses.

It's essential to recognize their contributions. We are truly fortunate as a community to have such dedicated individuals working to improve our health and well-being. Thank you, Deacon McCants and Deacon Parker, for your hard work and commitment to our community!
